

Alternative Dispute Resolution

In addition to a wide array of litigation talent, Osborn Maledon also provides complete Alternative Dispute Resolution services. Our ADR lawyers are specially trained to deal with clients and cases best suited for the creativity and flexibility that ADR provides. Our services begin at the start of the ADR process, with the drafting of mediation and arbitration clauses, advising clients and lawyers who are weighing the benefits and burdens associated with ADR versus litigation, and selecting the right neutral or tribunal. We represent a broad cross section of commercial clients in mediations and arbitrations where we can effectuate quick and affordable solutions for even the most complex cases. Our lawyers also frequently act as independent and party-appointed arbitrators and mediators in private and court-annexed proceedings and under the auspices of the American Arbitration Association, the National Association of Securities Dealers, the Judge Pro Tempore Program of the Superior Court of Arizona and as Special Master appointed by judges in state and federal courts. At the end of the ADR process, Osborn Maledon also can assist in the enforcement of interim and final awards.
