Osborn Maledon Practice Groups and Attorneys Ranked as Tops in Chambers Guide

The corporate, general commercial litigation and white collar crime/government investigations litigation practices of Osborn Maledon, P.A. received the number one ranking among Arizona law firms in the 2008 ranking by the prestigious legal resource guide, Chambers USA 2007.

Eleven attorneys at the 49-member Phoenix law firm, Osborn Maledon, P.A., were selected as “Leaders in Their Field” by Chambers and Partners, an international firm that ranks U.S. attorneys.

Osborn Maledon also ranked third among Arizona law firms for labor and employment law and for real estate law.

Chambers and Partners, the London publisher of the guide, assesses the top firms and lawyers in each state. It is distinguished from other nationwide attorney rankings that merely poll lawyers or clients because a detailed research process is conducted by Chambers.

The following Osborn Maledon attorneys received number one rankings in their respective practice areas:

- Tom Curzon, corporate law and mergers and acquisitions;
- Larry Hammond, litigation (white collar crime and government investigations).
- Bill Hardin, corporate law and mergers and acquisitions, and
- Bill Maledon, litigation (general commercial law).

Attorney David Rosenbaum received a “2” ranking in litigation (general commercial). Mark Harrison, also a general commercial litigator, was ranked as a “Senior Statesman.”

In addition, the Chambers report highly ranked these Osborn Maledon attorneys: Jonathan Ariano, corporate/mergers and acquisitions; Andrew Kelly, corporate/M&A; Jones Osborn II, real estate; Scott Rodgers, labor employment and Christopher Stachowiak, corporate/M&A.

Jones Osborn, the firm’s managing partner, said the high, ranking of the firm is testimony to all the attorneys and staff at Osborn Maledon.

“Chambers singled a few out, but in reality, everyone at the firm contributes to the excellent client service recognized in these rankings,” he said.
